

Lucija

Their house is right under the castle in the city of Ludza, whose name comes from a legend. It tells of Lucija, the third daughter of the king, who refused to marry the man her father designated for her, because she was in love with a normal man, a fisherman. Boris is of Russian origin, and orthodox religion. Astrida is Latvian, and catholic. Boris and Astrida are in love with each other and have a small cat. They live in Ludza at the shadow of the ancient castle and its legend about true love and Lucija.

Chiara Dazi, 2010 (ISSP 2010)